

Domestic Dispute

A lawyer was a bit star-struck, because there sitting in his office was Tina Turner. The singer wanted him to sue Ike Turner for every nickel he had. The lawyer listened to her complaints, about how Ike disrespected her, and the only defense she had was to arch her eyebrows, which put him in his place, but only for a while. The lawyer gradually came to the realization that there was nothing here to sue about and tried to explain this to her. She started to boil and raised her eyebrows. At this, the lawyer exploded "Don't arch for me, client Tina".

