

Men in Tights

Robin Hood and Friar Tuck traveled throughout Merrie Engeland engaging in battles of wits with each other. Sometimes it ended with Robin dunking Tuck in a brook, sometimes Tuck dunked Robin. But after all the dunking, Tuck had to withdraw from their competition. The constant soaking of his habit was fraying the fabric. He knew it was time to acknowledge that too many brooks spoil the cloth.

